Today, most financial providers put their own STP into the market. Analogously, every back-end requires its specific protocol and format. This situation leads those financial entities willing to work with several instruments from different origins and various destinations to deal with an ever-increasing complexity.

Improve your global post-trade efficiency

- simplifies and deals with this complexity for you by putting together all these heterogeneous products, connections and protocols, making it transparent to you.
- automatizes and makes the whole trading process to converge, from deal capture, through deal processing, up to forwarding it to back and middle office systems.
- is the modular scalable STP solution developed by dyma.ae that can be easily customised, so allowing for a quick and effortless integration.
